About this site

Computer Support for beginners to experts alike. Simple, free and reliable computer support from experts you can trust!

It is an online community built and run by both computer experts and beginners all over the world with the same philosophy in mind – People shouldn't pay for computer support. There are many sites offering computer help but often you will find there are hidden charges, one off fees . we aims to be the

Save Your Time By Updating Your Knowledge

We ensure our pages are simple, informative and are as ad free as possible unfortunately we do need some adverts and sponsors in order to pay the bills – but we absolutely do not make you pay a penny. Well you could say we have all gone mad offering

Free

Computer Support, but after the majority of our users being in the computer industry for many years, we believe there needs to be an alternative place for computer help rather than your pay per minute telephone support number from Big companies!. So you say "Free Computer Support Worldwide

?" – Indeed, we have a fantastic team of volunteers from various countries around the world and we can almost guarantee that a senior member from our team will be online and support you with in hours.

We have nothing to hide at anooptb.com. We don't make a profit from this site, every penny that is either earned by text link ads or by the Banner adverts is spent on bills. post your opinions & comments about this site through contact
